Jensen Eden Bed

Comfort, Class & Style

The wide range of stylish Jensen beds combine typically striking Scandinavian design with innovative technology to create a luxuriously comfortable piece that will become a real focal point in any bedroom. These beds are an enhancement to your everyday life, combining the innovation and design that has seen Jensen beds become world renowned over the past 60 years!

It is a well known fact that a good night's sleep is vital for your health. Jensen aim to steadily improve the quality of sleep by using a range of new technical innovations and materials.

sleep is a basic life need - a vital state that neither humans or animals can live without for many days. In the short term, sleeping poorly or suffering from insomnia causes problems with concentration, mood swings and a risk of danger when driving or operating machinery. In the longer term, it results in a lowered resistance to sickness, speeds up the aging process and has wider social consequences.

SEvery one of us passes through various stages of sleep during the night. The first phase is the falling asleep phase, followed by a deeper and then even deeper sleep. If we do not achieve at least 2 hours of deep sleep per night, over a period of time, it will begin to affect us negatively. Even if we feel that we are asleep all night, we may in fact roll over many times or be affected by other factors such as noise, which can cause us to "fall out" of deep sleep and not feel fully rested when we wake. Our sleep quality and patterns also change throughout the years, meaning the need for a good bed increases with age. It is also a beneficial idea however, to encourage good sleeping habits in early childhood to ensure these are retained as adults.

Your height, weight and body shape are crucial factors when buying a new mattress and it is vital that it offers comfortable support to your entire body and keeps your spine as straight as possible. A good mattress should adapt to and support your body, offering proper resistance, allowing for a peaceful and more relaxing sleep. The degree of firmness that you choose is therefore very important and it is wise to take your time and try out a selection of beds in store. The mattress must respond to your body's impulses, allowing you to easily roll over and it is particularly important that your shoulders and hips can sink into the bed. If your body is able to fully relax, you will wake up feeling much fresher

A comfortable sleep can be aided by a mattress that allows your hips and shoulders to sink slightly into the mattress whilst offering firmer support for the waist area. With the entire Jensen range, this support is the same whether you lie on your back or side and this can in turn help you to feel fresher, more relaxed and more productive after an peaceful, uninterrupted night's sleep.

Featuring a range of revolutionary technologies such as zoned springs, stretch fabrics and several different mattress tensions, there is sure to be a bed in the Jensen collection to suit your specific needs. A handy remote control system can also be used to raise certain sections of some beds or offer a wonderfully relaxing massage!

1. Mattress topper with stretch fabric, enhancing the spring properties. Talalay Latex core has excellent air and moisture transportation properties
2. The special hourglass shape of our springs is the result of us fulfilling our goal of designing a progressive spring which not only feels soft but also provides sturdy support. The springs have been thermally hardened so that they retain their sturdiness and height
3. Exclusive fabrics. Jensen only use high quality furnishing fabric for our beds. Some of the fabrics are designed exclusively for Jensen.
4. Jensen bed frames play an important role as regards the stability of our beds. The frames are made of solid pine and spruce. Jensen bed frames are guaranteed for 15 years.
